

THE TINK BRYAN MEMORIAL AWARD

IN MEMORY OF THOMAS J. (TINK) BRYAN JR.
1932 - 1998

The Pennsylvania Builders Exchange will be accepting nominations for the Tink Bryan Memorial Award for Service. This award was named in honor of Thomas J. (Tink) Bryan Jr.. Tink managed the concrete company his grandfather started, Frank Bryan, Inc. He was on the Board of Directors for the Pennsylvania Builders Exchange for eleven years and served as President in 1994. He remained involved as Past President until he was fatally injured in a tragic construction-related accident in 1998.

Tink was widely known for his giving spirit, dedication, modesty, and hard-working attitude. He was well respected in the construction industry and even his competitors were amazed at how freely he gave himself to the community and the industry. The construction industry is often perceived to be a sharply competitive business environment. We know, however it is full of people who give themselves freely to the community and others, often without the knowledge of their peers, and often without the recognition that is appropriate to their generosity. Tink Bryan personified this type of individual. He gave freely to the community, the construction industry, individuals, and even his competitors.
